LBJ Signs Housing Law; Task Force Girds For Enforcement

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, voicing outrage at the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King and the violence that followed it, has signed an historic open-housing bill as a federal task force girded to enforce the new law.

It is the third landmark civil rights bill to become law since Johnson entered the White House.

"All America is outraged at the assassination" of King, the President told a crowd of civil rights leaders, Congress members and government leaders in the East Room of the White House Thursday. "And America is also outraged at the looting and burning that defiles our democracy."

"We just must put our shoulders together and put a stop to both," he said of the violence that takes the lives of men like King and of the slum riots.

The signing came one week after King's death in Memphis, Tenn. The President recalled that King was among the civil rights leaders who met with him two years ago to lay the groundwork for an open-housing bill.

Mrs. King was invited to attend the ceremony but could not arrange to be in Washington, White House aides said.

The new law will prohibit discrimination in 80 per cent of all housing sales and rentals by 1970, but much of it takes effect next Jan. 1.

The law also makes it a federal crime to use threats or violence to interfere with anyone seeking to exercise his civil rights and prohibits the crossing of state lines with intent to incite rioting.

The measure follows up the 1964 Civil Rights Act which Congress sent to Johnson eight months after the death of President John F. Kennedy, another assassination victim. That measure opened up all public accommodations to Negroes and strengthened their voting rights. In 1966 Johnson signed the Voting Rights Bill which outlawed literacy tests as a requirement for voting.

As Johnson was signing the new bill Thursday in a ceremony nationally telecast and broadcast, the Justice Department's Civil Rights Division was assigning a newly formed task force to assemble the government's enforcement program. The task force will operate under Stephen J. Pollak, assistant attorney general for civil rights.

It will search for violations and may refer some cases to the FBI for further investigation, Pollak said in an interview.

The act is not expected to substantially break up large urban Negro slums immediately but should benefit middle-class Negroes who can afford to buy or rent better homes but who have been excluded on racial grounds.

Pollak said some large housing developers have refused to sell or rent to Negroes on grounds that white residents would move or refuse to buy. Pollak said the new law leaves the developers no such reason to discriminate.

The bill provides for conciliation through the Department of Housing and Urban Development on questions of housing discrimination. If conciliation fails to solve the issue HUD may file court suits or individuals may file their own suits in federal court.

The new law requires individuals to work first through the framework of state or local open-housing laws when these laws are substantially equivalent to the federal law.

Yanks Repulse Night Attack, Kill 128 Reds

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. foot soldiers, artillery and dive bombers repulsed 400 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops who stormed an American bivouac today and drove to within a few feet of the GI's foxholes.

After five hours of close-quarter fighting in War Zone C 49 miles northwest of Saigon, Vietnamese and Viet Cong fled, leaving 128 of their dead and more than 50 weapons on the battlefield.

All the enemy bodies were found inside or on the fringe of the American perimeter. AP photographer Al Chang reported from the battlefield that more bodies were probably farther out, victims of the massive air and artillery strikes.

Sixteen U.S. troops were killed and 47 wounded.

Chang said the fighting was at such close range that at one point the 25th Division infantrymen fixed their bayonets as their ammunition ran low. They didn't have to use them.

Two Americans were found dead inside their bunker. Around them were the bodies of eight Viet Cong, gunned down by the two Americans before they were killed.

A radio operator held out against 10 Viet Cong until a company commander, Lt. Richard J. Prairie of Kaukaee, Ill., and three other infantrymen reinforced him. Prairie was awarded a Silver Star on the spot.

The heavy fighting broke a week-long lull in the Vietnam war and was the first major action reported in Operation Complete Victory, the biggest allied campaign of the war in which 100,000 troops are sweeping through 11 provinces around Saigon.

A battalion of 25th Division infantrymen on a reconnaissance mission had taken up defensive positions for the night in a clearing of a heavily wooded area.

Listening posts detected a heavy movement on the west side of the perimeter about 2:40 a.m. shortly after, waves of Viet Cong threw themselves at the camp.

The fighting lasted until 7:30 a.m. Shortly after the Viet Cong broke contact, tanks and armored personnel carriers reinforced the infantrymen and began sweeping the battlefield.

Jury Acquits Ann Schanno

By DAVE ANDREWS

Ann Marie Schanno, 33-year-old mother of four children, was a free woman today for the first time in 36 days.

A Circuit Court jury Thursday night acquitted Mrs. Schanno of murder charges in the shooting death March 6 of her husband, Richard, a Gladstone police officer, in a bedroom of their home.

Jury foreman Dale Sviland, 306 2nd Ave. S., said the jury believed the shooting was an accident.

Mrs. Schanno, a slender woman with brown, wavy hair, had maintained since her arrest that she had accidentally shot Richard while attempting to unload a .357 magnum revolver he had used to threaten her.

The "not guilty" verdict was returned about 8 p. m. after the jury deliberated some two hours, 35 minutes on evidence and testimony presented in the four-day trial before Judge Bernard H. Davidson.

When the verdict was announced, Mrs. Schanno broke into tears and embraced her attorney, Clair Hoehn of Gladstone. Hoehn was standing beside Mrs. Schanno at the defense counsel's table.

About 45 spectators remained in the courtroom through the duration of jury deliberations and cheered approval of the verdict.

"I'm very happy right now," Mrs. Schanno sobbed. "I'm glad its over and I'm so thankful for all of the people that were behind me on this. I didn't know

Schanno Fund Is Established

Establishment of a trust fund for Ann Marie Schanno and her family was announced today by a group of Delta County residents.

Omer LaBombard, Rte. 1, Cornell, said contributions should be sent to any of the three Escanaba banks — Northern Michigan National Bank, First National Bank & Trust Co. or the State Bank of Escanaba.

He said money collected would be turned over to Mrs. Schanno.

I had so many friends as I had up here."

Mr. and Mrs. Schanno and their four children moved to Delta County last fall from Streamwood, Ill., purchasing their modest home on County Rd. 414 in Wells Township. She had worked for a short time at the Bird's Eye Vanner Co., in Escanaba.

When asked what her plans are now, Mrs. Schanno said she didn't know, that she would have to think about it.

Pilgrims Crowd Jerusalem For Religious Rites

JERUSALEM (AP) — Thousands of Christian and Jewish pilgrims thronged Jerusalem today for Easter and Passover, which coincide this year.

Visitors jammed hotels, private homes and pensions. The overflow bedded down in schools and monasteries.

The Christians came for the annual Way of the Cross procession, tracing Christ's path to Calvary on the first Good Friday, and to celebrate the Resurrection on Sunday. The Jews came to pray at the Wailing Wall before sundown, start of the week-long festival of Passover commemorating the Exodus from Egypt.

Hebrew historians claimed that this is the first Passover in 3,258 years that a Jewish army has been stationed on the Red Sea, over which the Israelites escaped from Egypt. Israel's army also was there during the 1956 Suez war but pulled out of the Sinai Desert before Passover began.

Jewish housewives and cooks were busy preparing the seder feasts which at sundown inaugurate Passover. Seders were prepared for army units from the Syrian Golan Heights to the Suez Canal, with the biggest in the Sinai Desert, near Mt. Sinai. This Easter is the second Christian holiday to attract large foreign crowds to Jerusalem since Israel ended Jordanian control of most of the Christian holy places in the war last June. Israeli troops were on guard against any Arab attempt to embarrass the government with disruptive violence. The first such holiday, Christmas, also was heavily guarded and there was no trouble.

Milk Hearing At Marquette

LANSING (AP) — The State Agriculture Department will conduct public hearings April 26 at Lansing and May 3 at Marquette to receive testimony from milk producers on a proposed dairy advertising, promotion and research program. The program, for producers of Grade A milk, was proposed by directors of the American Dairy Association of Michigan, Inc.

Humphrey Machine Headed By Truman

By The Associated Press

Sure that their man will declare soon for the Democratic presidential nomination, backers of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey have organized United Democrats for Humphrey with former President Harry S. Truman as honorary chairman.

A score of public figures, including two senators and five members of the House, were named Thursday as sponsors. But the only two governors on the list later denied they had authorized use of their names.

They were Gov. William L. Goy of North Dakota and Gov. Buford Ellington of Tennessee. Humphrey, expected to jump into the race soon after Easter, said in Baton Rouge, La., Thursday night he stands on the record of the present administration and is "not going to retreat from it one bit."

"I do not intend to disavow either President Johnson or the Johnson-Humphrey administration," he said to the Louisiana AFL-CIO.

"I intend to stand up for the promises we have kept. I intend to take our message to the country—an affirmative, positive, hopeful message."

Besides Truman, founders of United Democrats for Humphrey include Sens. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma and Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota, Mayors Ivan Allen Jr. of Atlanta and A. J. Cervantes of St. Louis, George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO; James A. Farley, former Democratic national chairman; assistant House majority leader Hale Boggs of Louisiana and four other House members.

Elsewhere on the political scene, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York said he is still available if the party wants him. And Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan, of California was showing signs of increased political activity.

Reagan aides said the governor who announced earlier this year he was all but cutting out national speeches, is scheduling several at which he will discuss "problems facing the country."

Rockefeller was asked at a news conference in New York if, in view of his March 21 statement that he would not seek the nomination, he still wants to be president.

Bobby Loses Shoe In Kazoo

By The Associated Press

New York Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, out to win votes in his bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, found enthusiastic support—and lost his right shoe—in a whirlwind tour of Michigan Thursday.

An estimated 25,000 persons jammed airports, hotel lobbies and parks as the long-haired senator stumped through Lansing, Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo.

In the familiar Bostonian accent, Kennedy called repeatedly for a program of national reconstruction, even at the expense of U.S. efforts to conquer space.

At Kalamazoo, young girls near him at the downtown Bronson Park Stage pulled at his clothing. Before the senator got out of town, somebody made off with his right shoe.

Iron Mountain Youth Dies As Car Hits Rocks

IRON MOUNTAIN (AP) — Paul A. Loar, 19, of Iron Mountain, was killed Thursday when a car driven by his brother, Wayne R., 22, went out of control on a curve on M 95 near the Michigan-Wisconsin border, struck four guard posts and then careened into a rock ledge. The car hit with such impact that the engine and transmission were torn out. Wayne R. Loar was reported in satisfactory condition today at a hospital.

U.S. Objects To Warsaw As Not Neutral

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials say the lengthening hassle between Washington and Hanoi over a site for preliminary talks signals the kind of difficulties expected when and if peace negotiations get under way.

They noted it has been more than a week since the opposing sides publicly declared their readiness for contacts. And on the record, the maneuvering to date has involved only initial talks—rather than negotiations—aimed only at setting the stage for an actual peace conference.

The White House objected to Warsaw, which the North Vietnamese proposed Thursday, on the ground the capital of Communist Poland would not provide a neutral, fair setting.

U. S. Choices Vetoed
The North Vietnamese have so far refused to accept U.S. site suggestions that are known to include Geneva, Switzerland; Rangoon, Burma; Vientiane, Laos; New Delhi, India; Jakarta, Indonesia; Vienna, Austria; Berne, Switzerland, and Bonn, West Germany.

The United States also objected to Hanoi's choice of Phnom Penh, Cambodia, on grounds Washington no longer has diplomatic relations with the neutral nation, a situation raising communications and logistic problems.

In related developments today:

—Sources in Vientiane, Laos, said American representatives at the embassy there met twice Thursday with North Vietnamese diplomats to discuss possible sites for the preliminary talks.

—A report from Hanoi by the Soviet news agency Tass said the North Vietnamese consider U.S. rejection of the Warsaw site to be "legally untenable" since, Hanoi officials said, "The United States has expressed repeatedly its willingness to meet . . . any place and any time."

—In Paris, U.N. Secretary-General U Thant met for 80 minutes with North Vietnamese diplomat Mai Van Bo, presumably about the proposed U.S.-North Vietnamese talks. Thant said Thursday he believes the talks "could start within a matter of two or three days."

Presidential press secretary George Christian said the U.S. government first learned of North Vietnam's proposal to meet at Warsaw from reading the Soviet news agency Tass—and only later received the Hanoi message through official diplomatic channels.

May Try Rangoon
The United States, he added, has not yet received a Hanoi response to U.S. proposals for sites in neutral countries. Other sources said the North Vietnamese, before their Warsaw proposition, had previously indicated they prefer an Asian locale and had named Rangoon—also deemed acceptable by Washington.

While President Johnson reportedly has not ruled out sending peace envoy W. Averell Harriman to Warsaw or Phnom Penh if the North Vietnamese insist, he is said to be pressing hard for selection of a neutral nation where both sides have diplomatic accreditation and facilities exist for rapid, private communications back to Washington.

The argument over a site generated fresh criticism of Johnson at home and abroad.

Prexy Favors Bigger Faculty Role In Control

MARQUETTE—Dr. John X. Jamrich, president-elect of Northern Michigan University, has reaffirmed his decision to call for three major faculty studies at the university next year.

The action is of particular significance because of Northern's faculty and student body protest over the administration's decision not to offer a contract to a faculty member. The faculty is now suing the administration.

In an address to NMU faculty members, Jamrich said it was his intention to appoint:

- A committee on the future of the university.
- A task force on academic governance at Northern.
- A task force (consisting of both students and faculty) on student rights and responsibilities at NMU.

He said the studies would concern such items as long-range plans on admission policies, student life, the campus climate, physical facilities, promotion and tenure "with adequate attention to due process."

Jamrich did not mention any specific problems when he mentioned the students rights study.

Jamrich, who earlier outlined the three major studies at a meeting of the NMU Board of Control, informed the faculty that the Board "has already given concurrence" to the general principles regarding the matter of academic governance at Northern.

Jamrich said he believes a university is not only a corporate body governed under appropriate statutes by a duly constituted governing board, but is also a "unique academic community consisting of its faculty, students, and other constituencies."

"What you and I do as faculty, we do to nourish or undernourish the very vine from which we in turn derive our professional and intellectual nourishment and from which the student derives his," he said.

He said the concern for academic governance is "not unique" to Northern, the University of California at Berkeley, or other institutions "which have experienced visible confrontations," (the McClellan case.)

Jamrich said he believes the best solutions to academic governance lie along the lines suggested in reports compiled by the American Association of University Professors, the American Council on Education, and the Berkeley Commission.

He quoted the new general secretary of the AAUP as saying "there is not a sharp line between faculty and administration, and it would be a serious mistake to draw it."

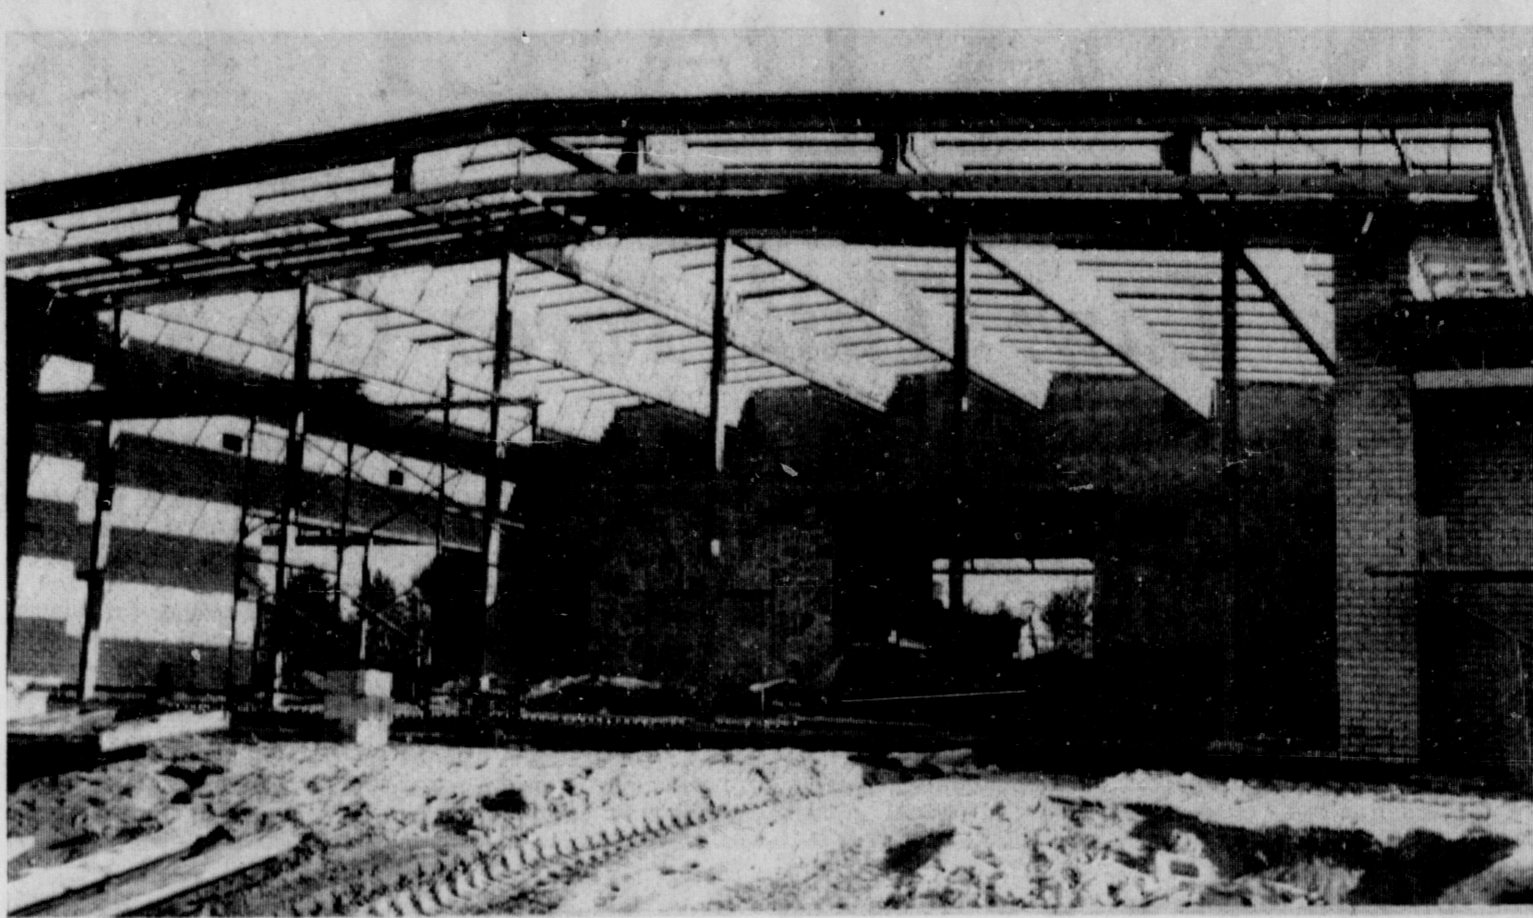

The AAUP document points out that institutions of higher education have reached the stage calling for shared responsibility and cooperative action among the components of the academic institution, he said.

Form Coho Navy On Lake Michigan

LUDINGTON (AP)—Charter boat operators along the Michigan coast of Lake Michigan organized a Coho navy this week and named Glen Bowden of Ludington as president.

Bowden said he looked forward to a fleet of about 100 boats in the navy designed to offer adequate fishing facilities as the salmon fishery migrate north in Lake Michigan.

The charter boat organization was suggested by the Ludington Sports Fishing Club and navy members plan monthly meetings at port cities along Lake Michigan. Next meeting is scheduled for Muskegon April 22.

ONE OF THE PROJECTS for which additional financial aid is being sought is the construction of the Escanaba municipal airport terminal pictured here from the north side. City officials are hopeful that funds may be forthcoming from the Upper Great Lakes Development sources. Local and state funds are budgeted for the building which will be dedicated in August. (Daily Press Photo)

$3 Million Mission:

Escanaba Seeks Aid For Housing Elderly

By CLINT DUNATHAN

Three Escanabans today are on a $3,340,000 mission to Chicago to confer with officials of Housing and Urban Development.

If they are successful, the agreements they reach may in effect bring home a trunkful of money.

Federal money, that is. To be paid later for financing such projects as Senior Citizens Housing and an addition to the Community Service Center.

Making the trip are Howard Smale, the city's administrative assistant to City Manager George Harvey; Ray LaPorte, director, Community Action Agency; and William DeHaan, private citizen appointed by the City Council to the Senior Citizens Housing Commission.

Seek Renewal

The arch that is being built to bridge the gap leading to the federal strong box is called a Workable Program for Community Improvement. The previous certification has expired and recertification is being sought.

City Manager Harvey noted that the task of gaining recertification has been delegated to Smale, who has been working with the executive committee of the Citizens Advisory Committee to bring the Workable Program to the point of acceptance by Housing and Urban Development officials. "This is most important,"

Harvey said. "The Senior Citizens Housing Project and other private developments that will secure some benefit from F.H.A. will be unable to proceed unless the Workable Program is recertified."

Largest item for which approval is sought — and no doubt most important to community welfare — is senior citizens housing.

Home For Elderly

This is a proposed 350-unit high rise apartment to be constructed near the city's downtown district by a private investor at an estimated cost of $3,000,000. With federal funds, the city backs the private investor and after a period of 25 years the housing units become the property of the city. Bonds are sold by the private developer with the backing of the federal government.

DeHaan of the Escanaba Housing Commission left for Chicago with options for the housing project site "in his pocket," it was reported.

Dependent also on the recertification is the city's application for $340,000 to assist in the financing of an expanded community services or recreation center. The center was started with Catherine Bonifas trust fund and is proposed to be enlarged.

Sewers And Airport
An addition that will include offices for Community Action Agency, plus space for other public services and facilities is planned. LaPorte will represent the Community Action Agency in presenting the application.

The community building now under construction at the city water tower site is well toward completion: Walls 100 per cent, roofing 70 per cent, carpentry 35 per cent, heating, ventilating and plumbing 55 and electrical work 40 per cent complete. The City Council has named the facility the Catherine Bonifas Civic Center.

The City is also concerned with aspects of financial aid for other projects and programs.

The city manager reported that a water and sewer facilities grant is being sought with the participation of federal and state agencies.

At the municipal airport, where the new terminal building is moving toward completion, the city is looking for additional financial help in meeting the costs of airport development.

Last week Councilman Harold Vanlerberghe, who is an appointee of the Governor to the Task Force on the Upper Great Lakes Development Council, and City Engineer John Dulek, were in Lansing to seek additional financing for the airport. Their application to the Upper Great Lakes Development Council will "receive serious review and hopefully, favorable consideration on securing additional funds," City Manager Harvey said.

Principal To Step Down

The Bark River-Harris Board of Education has accepted "with regret" the resignation of High School Principal Lloyd Bruce, at the April board meeting. The resignation is effective June 15.

The Board thanked Bruce for his devoted service to the school as a teacher for 12 years and principal for six years. In part, his letter of resignation read: "My reason for resigning as principal is primarily because of poor health. I would hope that I could continue to work for the district as a counselor and as a teacher. I felt it my duty to do all that is possible for one's employers. I still do."

Superintendent of Schools Gerald G. Rittenburgh, stated, "We appreciate the devotion and interest that Mr. Bruce has shown for the children of the Bark River-Harris Schools. We are fortunate that he will remain in our system to carry out his work in guidance."

College Is Study Item For League

The League of Women Voters of Escanaba reelected Mrs. William Taylor president at its recent annual meeting, and a budget was adopted by the membership to carry on its work in voters service, legislation, candidates meetings, and local operation.

A finance drive is expected to raise part of the budget. The remainder of the needed funds will come from the League's annual book sale in July, dues, and member contributions.

"Study and evaluation of the organization, financing, and future development of Bay de Noc Community College" was voted as the local study item for this year. The membership also voted to continue the "study of the recreation needs and potential for all age groups in the community" begun last year.

In addition to Mrs. Taylor, other officers and directors elected for 1968-1969 are: Mrs. Ray Godmer, first vice president; Mrs. Luther Barrett, secretary; Mrs. Roland Berry, Mrs. Charles Harper, and Mrs. Albert Halcli, directors.

Elected last year for two year terms and continuing in office are: Mrs. Robert Haack, second vice president; Mrs. Vernon Wicklander, treasurer; Mrs. Kenneth Myllyla, and Mrs. Walter Kulik, directors. Nominating committee consists of Mrs. Victor Powers, Mrs. Irving Olsen, and Mrs. Frank Neumeier. The League also voted to retain all the present continuing responsibilities which include:

- Support of home rule for Delta County if the state legislature amends the present bill to prove more flexibility in the structure of county government, and if the legislature provides more local options in the political party requirements for elected county officials.
- Support of measures which strengthen a sour city manager-council form of government.

Support of adequate financing to meet the Escanaba Area Public School needs.

Support of improvements in services to children through measures to strengthen the family unit by family counseling services, by protective services under the "Children's Charter," and by increased support of existing agencies.

Mrs. Gordon Eadie, League member from Newberry and former state treasurer, was guest speaker. She discussed the proposed constitutional amendment on judicial selection and tenure to be placed on the November 5, 1968 ballot.

The League is now seeking signatures of registered voters to place this amendment on the ballot. The amendment provides that judges would be selected by a combination of original appointment and subsequent election.

Prospect Of Defeat

Pundit Stewart Alsop writes in the Saturday Evening Post that the United States may have to accept defeat in Vietnam, but that it is strange and disturbing that, as defeat looms nearer, "a great many liberals and intellectuals seem to be increasingly jubilant at the prospect."

Alsop suggested that they shouldn't be joyous, because defeat is certain to have dangerous effects abroad and because its worst effects may be felt at home where he fears the country will turn on itself viciously, especially against the intellectuals "who are now so jubilant."

Alsop qualifies as one of the intellectuals, and this should save him from too much eye-wetting over defeat in Vietnam, by which he means a "peace" settlement which will be really a victory for the communists and turn South Vietnam over to them for rule by Ho Chi Minh.

The alternative must be considered when we contemplate the catastrophe of a communist "victory" in Vietnam. The United States for a long time has been willing to accept almost any kind of a peace settlement in Vietnam but has been unable to bring Ho's representatives to the bargaining table. So we are not suddenly launched upon a great change of policy.

The United States made a huge blunder in undertaking to fight the war in Vietnam for the Vietnamese. We were going to fight only a limited war, since we wouldn't attack the aggressor, North Vietnam, except by strategic bombing, and after more than three years of such fighting and many brave and optimistic reports on our progress we were suddenly shocked by the Tet offensive. The commies mounted offensives all over South Vietnam and created chaos.

In the fix that we've been in there, unable to bring the North Vietnamese to the table, we've been told that we had to go on fighting because if we didn't all the other free countries of Southeast Asia would collapse like dominoes. Our bold stand has been ascribed as a reason for the defeat of communism in Indonesia and for the strength of resistance to communism in other Asian countries. These are part-truths.

The deepest wound of defeat in Vietnam would be in the American people. We — the mightiest nation in the world — would have been humbled by a barefoot guerrilla army operating in the canyons, terrorizing civilians and slaughtering them like pigs. Our invincibility would then be disproved and all the world would be invited to join the communists.

The error of our military in believing that we could win a limited war fought in a backward country where the foe is indistinguishable from our allies has now been acknowledged by many of our national leaders' admissions that the war cannot be solved by military victory. We make even less progress in pacification. What's left?

A new try for peace. That's what President Johnson is trying. He has become so impressed with the weakness of our war stance that he has announced he won't seek the presidency again, but will devote himself to peace efforts. Any peace now attainable will be a victory for the communists. It will be so propagandized by the communists and so regarded by the world. It will be costly to us both in prestige and in loss of allied strength.

But what is the alternative? It is to continue the war, and probably to escalate it as a means of knocking out the bases of the enemy. That will risk World War III by involvement of Red China or Russia, or both. This is a result that must be avoided at all costs and if the world doesn't recognize that its opinion is worthless.

Our progressive blundering in Vietnam finally has us deeply and bloodily involved there in war to assure South Vietnam's right of self-determination as a nation. This is a weird result of the Geneva Conference's plan for elections to unify the two Vietnams. The communists may solve our dilemma by not making peace after all the punishment that we have given North Vietnam — and South Vietnam, too. When they can involve large American forces in inconclusive combat so far from home and at such huge expense — more than $25 billion a year — while suffering only tolerable casualties themselves, they are winning their way in world conquest.

Stability At Stake

By RAY CROMLEY
HONG KONG (NEA) — To business and financial men this reporter has talked to in a half dozen countries of Asia, the proposed U. S. income tax increase has become a strong indicator of U. S. strength or weakness.

If Congress approves the proposed tax increase, this reporter was told, confidence in the dollar and in the United States will decrease.

Now these men are sophisticated bankers, financial officials, manufacturers and commercial men. They know that the tax increase will not be sufficient to solve the dollar drain. But they are measuring American determination.

"We know your country is economically strong; what we worry about is not your strength, but your will," says one topflight Tokyo banker. "If you show that will by raising your income tax and other taxes, there will be no doubt in our minds that you will also carry through with other austerity steps."

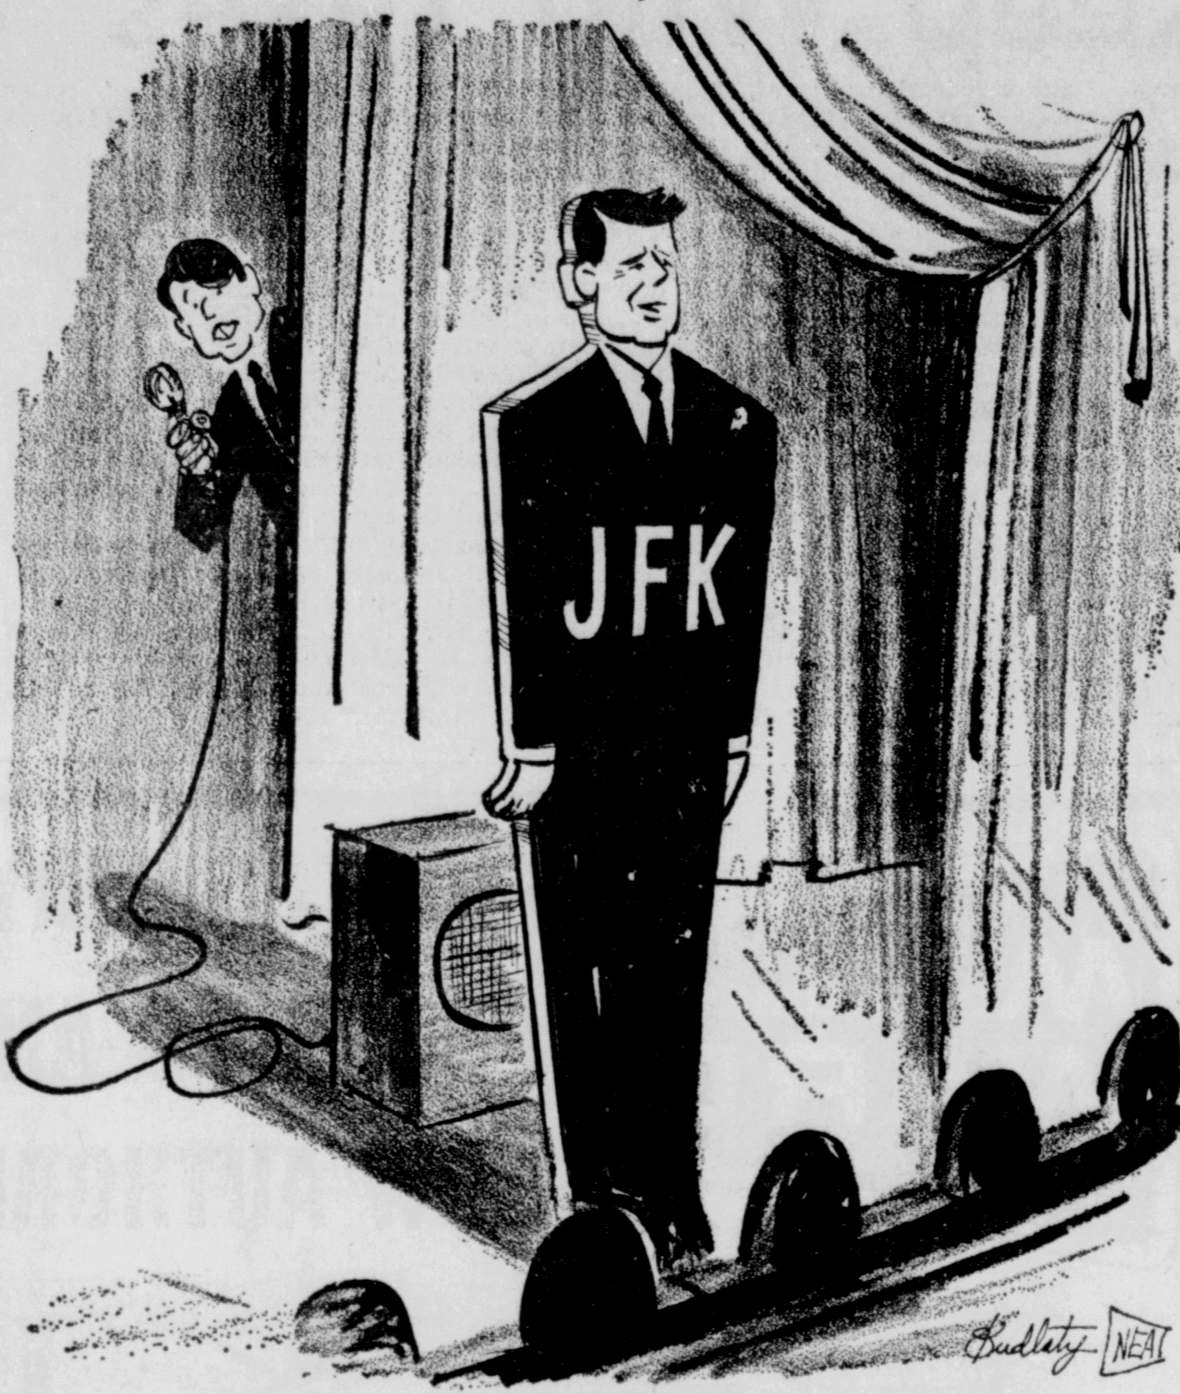

The men this reporter talked to are not worried about a devaluation of the dollar. If the dollar were devalued, they predict, almost all other important currencies would immediately follow suit. "Then we'd be right back where we are now," says one international banker.

After a tax increase, the step that would create most confidence abroad would be a major cut in the U. S. non-war budget, if these bankers and businessmen are correct in their estimates.

A strong belief exists in Far East business circles that it would be impossible to cut the U. S. defense budget at this time.

According to legend, the first king of Britain was Brut, or Brutus, reputed to be the great-grandson of Aeneas, legendary Trojan hero.

Pine Making Phenomenal Growth On Old Farmland

After more than a quarter century of tree growth on an abandoned corn field, growth rates on thinning plots being studied forest tree nursery at Trout today reveal a dramatic story of Lake.

"Planting techniques were less developed in those days and reforestation was more or less experimental," said Marlowe P. Burgoyne, O-I's current northern woodlands manager.

In 1941, the Tomahawk Kraft Paper Co., now a part of Owens-Illinois, Inc., decided to plant the marginal farm lands which it had recently acquired from Carl Halverson, who lived about 7 miles northwest of the small, summer resort town of Tomahawk.

The decision to plant the 61-acre tract of sandy crop land was made by C. G. McLaren, who is now a vice president of O-I's Forest Products Division at Toledo, Ohio, and who was then woodlands manager for Tomahawk Kraft.

Planted Tightly
Ned Schreiber, now logging superintendent of O-I at Tomahawk, was in charge of the planting crew, which consisted of a small army of sturdy Finnish farmers from the Brantwood-Tripoli area, plus others who lived adjacent to the planting site.

D2 tractors furrowed under the corn stubble left from the 1940 harvest. Then the planting crew, using spuds, heeled in 2-year-old Norway pine seedlings purchased from the Wisconsin Conservation Department on thinning plots being studied forest tree nursery at Trout today reveal a dramatic story of Lake.

"The seedlings were planted every 5 feet in rows spaced 5 feet apart, totaling about 1,700 trees per acre," he said. "The relatively close spacing was used as it was thought that survival would be quite poor in the sandy soil. Actually this was not the case, as the survival ratio was phenomenally high."

In 1958, O-I cooperated with Trees For Tomorrow, Inc., a forestry educational organization, in establishing a thinning study on 7 select plots. Different thinning methods were used on each site.

The primary purpose of the cooperative study was to collect tree growth data, but foresters familiar with the project suspect that McLaren had an equally important motive in mind — the establishment of model demonstration areas for educational and training purposes.

This year the same 7 plots

IN 1944 M. N. TAYLOR, executive director of Trees For Tomorrow, Inc., Merrill, Wis., examines the health and vigor of a 3-year-old field planting of Norway pine established in 1941 by the Tomahawk Kraft Paper Co. near Tomahawk, Wis.

IN 1964 OFFICIALS from Owens-Illinois, which acquired the Tomahawk Kraft Paper Co., and Trees For Tomorrow, Inc. are dwarfed by the extraordinary growth of the pine plantation over a 21-year period.

While we are far from agreement with a good deal of the material in "Bid Boldly, Play Safe", there is an excellent chapter on safety plays. We would expect this. Mrs. Marcus writes about rubber bridge, and in rubber bridge you work to make your contract.

Today's hand was played by Albert Rose, one of England's top players. Most players would have looked over dummy happily and noted that the contract would come home if either the club finesse or heart finesse would work. They would win the spade lead in dummy and promptly lose the club finesse. Later on they would lose the heart finesse also and complain about misfortune.

Mr. Rose looked over dummy carefully and saw that he could make the hand with both finesses wrong provided diamonds broke 4-3. He could try this first and reserve finesses for later if diamonds don't break that well.

He won the first spade in dummy and promptly discarded two hearts on the ace and king of diamonds. If West had Rose would have been in trouble but he was willing to chance a 6-1 diamond break. Then he ruffed a third diamond with the nine of clubs. When both opponents followed to this, he did not need to worry any more about finesses. He led a low club to dummy.

West went up with his queen. Had he not done so he would have lost it. Then West led another spade. Albert won in his own hand; entered dummy with the jack of clubs, ruffed a diamond high, drew trumps, entered dummy with the last high spade and discarded his queen of hearts on a good diamond.

An interesting and good line of play, but not such a sure thing as it appears. We will change the East-West hands a trifle tomorrow and show how this play might lose while the two-finesse play would win.

Ann Landers

No Need To Explain Wearing Hairpiece

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to comment on Marvyn, the young man who won a trip to London in a sales contest. His girl wrote that she was disappointed when he returned and handed her his "gift"—a clump of dirt from London.

Your comment that the gift was "dirt cheap" — and something a person could pick up at the last minute, was not only inadequate but incorrect. Such a gift could wind up being mighty expensive — for all of us. Even a handful of English soil could bring into this country foot-and-mouth disease or golden nematode, which is a serious pest of potatoes.

Moreover, Marvyn broke the law. Untreated soil from any place outside North America is prohibited by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Marvyn should have declared the soil to the U. S. Customs authorities. Had he done so, the soil could have been treated to eliminate all plant pests and animal diseases.

Please print this letter for the education of others. Thank you. — C.A.L.

Dear C.A.L.: Like I said, Marvyn, you should have gone into one of those lovely English shops and bought the girl a little something. Now maybe you brought her more than you had planned on — like foot-and-mouth disease. Have you seen her lately? How is she feeling?

Dear Ann Landers: After reading your suggestion for cooling anger (squeezing an egg in the palm of your hand — the less said about that one the better) it occurred to me that I should share my secret solution for fighting between kids.

When our two boys reached the boiling point we would hand them each a rag and some window cleaner and tell them to go wash the opposite sides of the same window. They had orders to stay with it until the anger disappeared.

This way the boys were able to spar off without touching each other because neither would risk breaking the glass. Eventually their eyes HAD to meet and they would end up laughing.

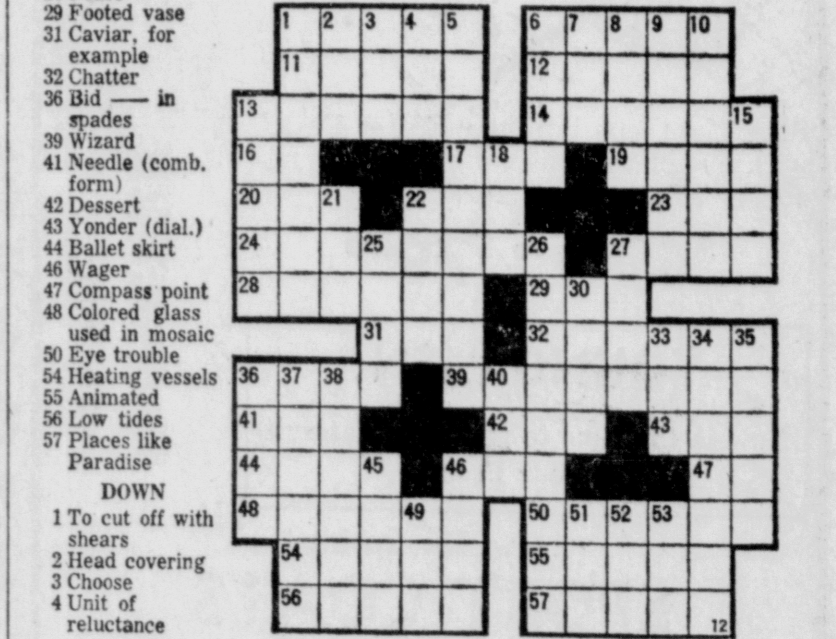

We never had a broken pane or a broken nose and we probably had the cleanest windows in town. — CALIFORNIA WOMEN'S EDITOR

Dear C.W.E.: Thank you for an excellent suggestion. I endorse it, wholeheartedly, for people who have ranch style homes, that is — but not for folks who live in high-rise apartments.

Christians in ancient Egypt are said to have burned butter in their lamps, a claim that can't be made by the lower-priced spread.

Many Fish In Bay: Warm-Up Signals Smelt Run Start

A few smelt were taken by fishermen in the Escanaba River last night and with the warming trend it is anticipated the volume of smelt entering rivers from the bays will increase in the nights ahead.

"The smelt are gathered in the bays but the runs are not really in progress yet," reported Cliff Long, Conservation Department fish biologist at Escanaba.

Usually one of the first streams to witness a run in volume is Valentine Creek on the Garden Peninsula. The fish enter the little stream in great numbers from Big Bay de Noc — signalling the start of the run that works on westward into rivers and streams flowing into Big and Little Bays.

But so far there have been no smelt taken at Valentine Creek. That situation could change tonight or within the next couple of days, however, because of the rising water temperatures that trigger the spawning runs.

"There are large concentrations of smelt in Garden Bay, for example, and in Little Bay de Noc and upper Green Bay. Commercial fishermen are taking tons of smelt," Long reported.

Ruleau brothers and Grabowski are both trawling in the area, bringing their fish to Escanaba. The fish are largely being sold to mink farmers for food for their fur animals. Ruleau in one day brought in a total of 43,000 pounds.

Sports fishermen with their dip nets find the best runs usually occur at night on streams and rivers such as the Escanaba, Tacoosh, Rapid, Bark River, Valentine Creek and others. Off-limits because it is private property are the lower reaches of the Days River, once popular with dippers.

Rock 4-H Club Members Elect New Officers

Rock 4-H club members elected new officers for the summer season at the April 10 meeting at the Lions Clubhouse.

Officers are: Dave Tavis, president; Carolyn Kulack, vice president; Patricia Waak, secretary; Larry Koski, treasurer; Mark Wilcox, reporter; Christine Mankiewicz, historian; John Peltonen and Jim Mankiewicz, recreation; Priscilla Waak, lunch.

Nancy Weldum, Mark Wilcox, Cynthia Niemi and Dave Tavis will go to Escanaba April 27 to participate in the talent and King and Queen program at 1 p. m.

All girls are to meet at the Waak residence at 6 p. m. Saturday for transportation to Escanaba for the modeling show.

Officer pins were presented to the outgoing officers by the club and Vickie Layman and Nancy Weldum were presented graduating gifts from the club.

Summer projects were mentioned and members are to decide by the May 8 meeting what projects they want for the summer.

Suggested projects are: foods, wildflowers, forestry, entomology, rocks and minerals, vegetable and flower gardening, photography and fish conservation. A leader for boy's projects is needed. Anyone interested may contact Mrs. Weldum.

An awards banquet will be held at Escanaba on May 5. A committee was formed to gather information on a club trip this summer and report at the May meeting.

Gas Co. Asks Rate Increase

Michigan Consolidated Gas Company today asked the Michigan Public Service Commission to review its rates and set new rates based on higher costs of operations resulting from increased taxes, wages, wholesale gas costs and other factors.

The utility did not request a specific dollar amount of rate increase, but asked the Commission to hold hearings and determine new rates adequate to meet increased expenses totaling approximately 8 per cent.

The petition points out that Michigan Consolidated's rates have been lowered three times since Nov. 23, 1960, the date of its last rate increase.

Good Feeling

Operation Bootstrap members were given a tour of the Thompson Hatchery of the Conservation Department on Wednesday by Clifford Long, department fish biologist and Walter Houghton, of the hatchery staff.

Four members were Bert Wickham, Walfrid Lindberg, Wynand Nieuwenkamp and Elmer White. They saw the 100,000 coho salmon which are to be planted starting next Wednesday in Haymeadow Creek of the Whitefish River system.

"It gave Operation Action a good feeling to see this coho salmon planting become a reality," said Wickham, "after working with the Department of Conservation and others for the past two years to bring salmon to our area."

Conservation are William Stenbol, 1002 S. 10th St.; Fred Costell, 1731 3rd Ave. N.; Harold Winchester, 600 S. 18th St.; and John McLenthian, 629 S. 14th St.

There were five special licenses available for Escanaba district, said Long and there were five applicants for them, so each got one.

The exploratory fishermen will be allowed to fish as many lines as they can and to catch as many fish as they can, but they'll be permitted to keep only the legal limit and will have to make reports on their total catches for the interpretation of Long and his fellow workers and for relay to the public to guide in on where to fish and how.

The plan is a new one with the Conservation Department and was created especially to guide fishermen to the schools of coho salmon which will be created in local waters by the plantings that will start next week in Haymeadow Creek, a tributary of the Whitefish River. The first cohos will be coming back out of Great Lakes waters to the Whitefish next fall.

The exploratory fishermen will start their fishing next week on rainbows (steelheads) and brown trout in Great Lakes waters. Vinette reports that he's had good luck on Coronado Shoal near Minneapolis Shoals with steelheads.

The trout season opened April 1, walleye pike and northerns will be legal May 20 and bass on May 30.

The special fishermen had to have a power boat 20 feet in length or longer to qualify for the licenses. Their main interest will be the Bays de Noc and Green Bay. There will be other exploratory fishermen designated in the Manistique area and elsewhere.

St. Joseph's Home, School Meeting Held

St. Joseph's Home and School Association met April 10 at 8 p. m. in the school cafeteria. Guest speakers for the evening were Manfred Cerasoli and John Sheldner, counselors at Escanaba High School and Bay de Noc College, respectively.

They spoke briefly on student counseling and the information used in counseling. Officer Gary LaPlante of the Escanaba Police Force also spoke on bicycle safety and announced that Bicycle Safety Day will be held Sunday, April 28 from 1 to 5 p. m. at Ludington Park. This event is co-sponsored by the Escanaba Jaycees and the Optimist Club.

Mrs. M. McGovern reported on the Dessert Card party to be held April 16 at 8 p. m. at St. Joseph's parish hall. The public is invited.

Following the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Marcel Guindon, Mrs. Don Stacey, Mrs. Cletus Couehene and Mrs. Kenneth VanEffen. The fourth grade room won the room count.

No Strike Set At Contract End

There is no present prospect of a strike of Local 632 of the United Auto Workers at the Harnischfeger Corp. plants in Escanaba on Monday when the current work contract between the company and the UAW expires, Maurice Harrison, president of the local said today.

The company and the union are negotiating on a new three year contract, Harrison said, resuming their deliberations today at the Pioneer Motor Inn at 10 a. m. He said that he did not know if there would be negotiations on Saturday.

The membership of the local voted 91 per cent on Tuesday of this week to authorize a strike to enforce demands after the membership had turned down the company's package offer on Sunday, the UAW announced.

"We're still negotiating and as far as I know there won't be a strike on Monday," said Harrison. "We have notified the International of the Auto Workers about our strike vote. Their approval is necessary for a strike and we haven't heard from them yet and don't expect to hear from them before Monday."

SPLIT LEVEL: Artist's rendering of Design Z-35 shows how a well-planned split level house can look both charming and comfortable on a level lot, even though this type of residence was created originally to take advantage of sloping ground.

Z-35 STATISTICS

Design Z-35 has a living room, dining room, kitchen, three bedrooms and two baths, with a habitable area of 1588 square feet. On the lower level are a family room, a lavatory, laundry, two-car garage, foyer and basement. Over-all dimensions are 52' by 38' 6". There is a rear lawn terrace reached via sliding glass doors in the family room, and a rear deck accessible from the dining room and kitchen.

FLOOR PLANS: Separation of living and sleeping areas, typical of split level designs, is well defined in this layout with level permitting use of a family room for informal gatherings. The kitchen can be reached via a rear stair when bringing up groceries.

Extra Roomy Split Level

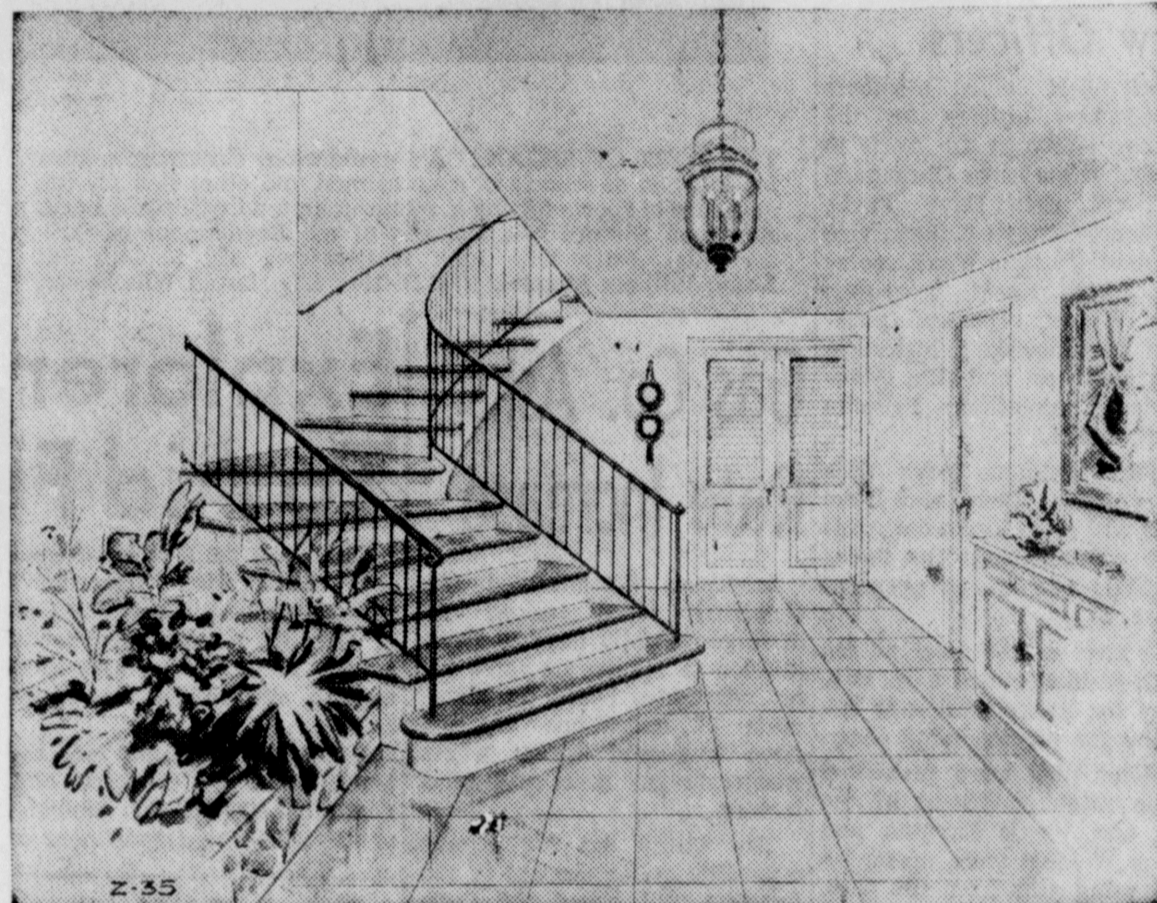

By ANDY LANG

The great upsurge in home building in the past 20 years produced many interesting design changes. One of the most distinctive was the split level, which caught on quickly and continued to hold on to a considerable share of the market.

Advantages of the split, in addition to its suitability for construction on sloping land, include an extra level or two at a modest extra outlay and not too many steps to climb at any one time. And the garage can use some of the cheaper underground area, saving on construction and property costs, as in the case of an attached or detached garage. Also — and this is just a comfort extra — you are literally inside the house when you drive into the garage.

This particular house, designed by architect Lester Cohen, is somewhat different from the first split-levels, but retains its advantageous characteristics. Distinctively today is the curved stair, which rises gracefully from the foyer to the living level up to the curved bedroom hall. In all, there are seven rooms, 2½ baths, a two-car garage, spacious hall areas and convenient closets — all in a plan with over-all dimensions of only 52' by 38' 6".

The flagstoned entry porch is sheltered by a decorative stone wall on one side and a charming planter on the other. Inside, there's a second planter in the wide foyer, along with a handy clothes closet. The foyer acts as an efficient traffic control center. There's the entry from the garage, the half-stair to the basement level and, next to that, a way up to the kitchen (no need to take groceries or gear up the formal front stairs). This "artery" also leads back to the mud room, where you find the laundry equipment, a lavatory and a door to the rear yard. Off to the side is a family room, with sliding glass doors out to a lawn terrace.

GOING UP: Curved foyer stair leads to living and dining areas of split level. Family room and two-car garage are on the lower level, along with a laundry room and a lavatory.

Petoskey Gets Marina Grant

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Coho salmon fishing boom that has struck Michigan has resulted in the city of Petoskey getting a federal grant of $340,000 approved toward construction of a new $680,000 marina.

The Economic Development Administration in Washington says the 90-boat marina will create 65 new jobs in the area. U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., says the grant shows evidence of the game fish boom that has taken place since plantings of Coho salmon. He says he will press for more federal funds for the Coho program.

Pollution Boosts Bottled Waters

NEW YORK (AP) — With filth and pesticides befouling the nation's lakes and streams, and chemicals now mixed with tap water, the bottled water people foresee a growing thirst for their product.

It wouldn't be correct to say that business is booming—or even bubbling over, as the wags say—but certainly it is catching on. The industry now claims one in 600 American homes as customers, and one in seven in Southern California.

Industry sources estimate their income is $65 million gross and growing toward $100 million a year in 1970. Ten years ago 1,000 retailers carried the product. Now the industry claims 10,000 outlets, including door-to-door deliverers.

Many Reasons

The reasons are obvious. Not only are conventional supplies getting dirty, but tastes are growing more discriminating, low sodium diets more popular for heart and arthritic patients and people more affluent.

The White House has long been a customer, as have senators. Athletes use it. Martini makers claim it gives consistency to their recipes.

A rare claim is made by John Scott, president of Mountain Valley Water Co., which bottles water gurgling out of the Hot Springs, Ark., ground at the rate of 50 gallons a minute.

"Most of the recent Kentucky Derby winners and horses of the year have used our water," he boasts.

Not Only Springs

Other companies don't always depend on springs but take their water from wells and even from city taps, after which they break it down, demineralize or distill or cleanse it, and then re-manufacture it for distribution.

The more popular, and perhaps the oldest water companies both in the United States and Europe have been those which bottle spring waters that, it is claimed, last saw the light of day hundreds of thousands of years ago.

The spring water people claim that their supply seldom if ever is mixed with ground water. Some of it presumably is glacial water trapped many thousands of years ago and removed both by depth and time from today's pollution.

Medicinal Claims

Many of the popular waters are said to have medicinal value. Some medical authorities do claim the waters have diuretic properties and that they are able to pick up larger parts of the body's wastes. Many are low in salts.

The growing demand today, however, is mostly because of taste and purity, and in some instances because good reservoir water becomes scarce in periods of drought.

"The industry expects a lot of business around the Great Lakes cities because of water pollution," said Scott, whose waters are shipped in glass lined tank cars and in bottles to most states, selling at 4 cents to 10 cents a glass.

Employment At All-Time Peak

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's employment rose to a record high of 75.8 million in March and unemployment declined but the jobless rate for Negroes continued at more than double the rate for white workers, the Labor Department reports.

The total number of unemployed dipped by 359,000 to 2,929,000 last month, bringing the over-all unemployment rate down from 3.7 to 3.6 per cent of the civilian labor force.

About one-fifth of the total unemployed—615,000—were non-whites, mostly Negroes, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said Wednesday.

While the jobless rate for Negroes dropped three-tenths of 1 per cent to 6.9 per cent it was still more than twice the white rate of 3.2 per cent, which was down one-tenth of 1 per cent from February.

Total employment rose about 100,000 to hit the new all-time high mark, the Bureau said.

Virtually all the job gains were in trades, government and service businesses.

Weekly earnings for some 45 million workers averaged $104.43, up 38 cents from February and $4.87 above the year earlier. The average for approximately 14 million factory workers was $120.18 per week, up 70 cents from February and $7.74 a week above March of 1967.

Stokes Keeps Cleveland Cool

CLEVELAND (AP) — Since the night Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was assassinated, Cleveland Mayor Carl Stokes has gone into the city's Negro areas with one message: Cool it!

Stokes' message has paid off. There has been no racial disturbances in this city, which has about 280,000 Negroes.

As he walked through Negro areas, Stokes and everyone else were conscious of racial disturbances in some of the nation's major cities, where National Guardsmen were sent in to quell the rioting.

A Negro, Stokes went into the heart of the Hough area where five nights of rioting and fire bombing hit Cleveland in 1966.

The mayor attended Dr. King's funeral in Atlanta Tuesday and said the first thing Vice President Hubert A. Humphrey told him was, "We are all so proud of your city."

$43,000 Gift To Trout Program:

Steelhead Fishing Best In 20 Years

By BOB VOGES
LANSING (AP) — A netful of good news for fishermen came out of the State Conservation Commission meeting Thursday.

Encouraging items for anglers included:

—Steelhead Trout fishing on some Northern Michigan streams is rated the best in 20 years. Heavy runs are expected this weekend.

—Coho Salmon fishing, slow to date, should be better this and each succeeding weekend.

—The dieoff of young Cohos in state hatcheries is ended and there will be an ample supply of young fish for planting.

—Smelt runs have started and are expected to peak about two weeks from now.

—Fishing license and trout stamp sales are up. So is the interest of out-of-state fishermen—expected to aid the tourist industry.

—A donor has given stock valued at $43,000 to help improve trout fishing in the Upper Peninsula.

—Even commercial fishermen are doing better, especially on whitefish.

There are only two items of concern to fishermen.

The Conservation Department is worried because commercial fishermen are snagging too many lake trout—now an illegal catch in their gill nets.

There also is the long range worry about the continued effects of DDT and other pesticides on the Coho and other Great Lakes fish.

Wayne Tody, chief of the fish division, furnished the report that local anglers rate the Steelhead fishing on the Little Manistee and Platte River areas as the best in 20 years.

Steelheads Big
The department, in spawning operations, handled 1,650 Steelheads netted from the Little Manistee. Most ran eight pounds in weight and up.

Heaviest runs are expected this weekend on the Jordan, Platte, Pere Marquette, Pentwater, Big and Little Manistee and Betsie Rivers.

The Coho salmon fishing started slowly. Tody estimated some 1,800 fishermen caught only about 400 Coho the first week. Bad weather and ice conditions were blamed.

It was reported that Thursday was the first day that small craft warnings haven't been hoisted at some section of Lake Michigan.

The salmon, originally feeding at mouths of streams, now have moved out deeper in the lake. Those braving the swells have been taking salmon averaging two to four pounds.

Coho Dieoff Ends
By fall, these fish will have grown to 15 and 20 pounds.

"It looks as if better Coho fishing is immediately ahead," Tody promised. "The Coho are spread through the lake from New Buffalo north to Holland. Best fishing offshore this weekend should be in the Saugatuck area."

The hatchery dieoff of young Coho now has stopped and the fish are doing well on a hatchery diet. The total toll—blamed on DDT by Michigan State University scientists—is estimated at 700,000.

The department stockpiled about five million eggs, however, and there will be plenty of young fish for planting in the spring of 1969.

Smelt Runs
Meanwhile, the department is continuing its study to determine if pesticides also are affecting Lake Trout and Steelheads.

Smelt runs already are reported in the Thumb area and up to Whitney Drain in Lake Huron tributaries. The peak, depending on water temperature, is expected in about two weeks.

Trout stamp sales are reported 17,000 ahead of last year at this time and residence fishing license sales are up 1,400 from last year.

The department reported receiving 50 to 150 letters a day from out-of-state fishermen, mostly interested in the Coho action.

Interest High
The fish information hot line—to keep anglers posted on best fishing spots—is receiving more than 100 calls a day. More than 60 per cent of them, Tody said, are long distance calls from out of state.

The interest expected to provide a big boost to the vacation and tourist industry.

The Lansing number to call for fish information is 517-373-0908. The line is open Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

The Conservation Commission Thursday received a gift of 1,000 shares of stock in R.R. Donnelley & Sons of Chicago. The donor was Elliott Donnelley, a vice president and director of the company and a member of the board of directors of Trout Unlimited.

He asked that the stock, valued at $43,000 be sold to buy land along the Little Garlic River, near Marquette, to provide vide public access to the popular stream and protect the waters for trout fishing.

The commission was told that the commercial whitefish take in the Great Lakes has jumped from about 200,000 pounds in 1962 to 1.2 million pounds in 1966, the last year for which a complete report is available.

Tody also reported, however, that the incidental catch of Lake Trout in northern Lake Michigan is staggering. He estimated that about 5,000 pounds of lake trout are taken for every 2,600 pounds of whitefish netted.

The gill nets used by the commercial fishermen almost always kill the trout. Commercial fishermen are supposed to throw back any live ones and turn over the killed trout to the department for processing and use by state institutions.

Tody said the department is watching the situation closely. As one solution, it is asking the commercial fishermen to move into water depths where there is less chance of snagging the lake trout.

Penny Pinching Cuts Tax Take

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's chief tax collector says spending restrictions imposed by Congress on the Internal Revenue Service—all in the name of economy—actually cost the government about $1 billion a year.

Sheldon S. Cohen, commissioner of internal revenue, said cuts by Congress in the number of new jobs requested by his agency over the last five years are responsible for the loss in uncollected taxes.

As a rough rule of thumb, Cohen said in an interview, every $1 cut from the Internal Revenue Service personnel budget means $10 in lost taxes because of the inability of the service to take on additional audits.

The House earlier this week approved an appropriation bill which permits IRS to hire about 1,000 fewer persons than it requested for the fiscal year which begins July 1.

Cohen said last year's congressional economy drive cost the Treasury Department between $50 million and $100 million in lost revenues and at one point IRS had 2,000 job vacancies because of cuts in its budget.

It normally employs about 60,000 persons, including 13,000 field agents.

Of all our presidents, James Monroe in 1820 received the largest percentage of the electoral vote, 231 out of 232.

Great Lakes Levels Are Up

DETROIT (AP) — All the Great Lakes, on which the 1968 shipping season opened earlier this month, are above April levels of last year and also above average levels for the last 10 years.

Erie and Ontario even are above their average levels from 1860 to date, and all the lakes are expected to continue rising into June or July.

The Army Corps of Engineers reports that Lakes Michigan and Huron are about nine inches above levels of a year ago and 10 inches over the average level for the last decade.

Lake Erie is 10 inches higher than a year ago and about 14 inches higher than the average for the last 10 years.

Lake Ontario is seven inches above last year's April level and 10 inches above its average mark for the last 10 years.

Lake Superior, where the level can be controlled through spillways in the St. Marys River, is about two inches below its 10-year average and three inches below that of last April.

A three-inch rise is anticipated on Superior during April, with Ontario, Michigan and Huron gaining about seven inches and Erie five inches.

All the lakes except Superior, according to the forecast of the engineers, are expected to remain above 10-year averages for the next six months. Superior, largest and deepest of all, is expected to stay within a couple of inches of its 10-year average.

Club Assists VISTA Work

VISTA workers in the Nahma area presented a program at the Child's Welfare Club meeting Monday night and the members enjoyed it so much they decided they wanted to help out. Miss Paula Root, of Barnesboro, Pa., and Miss Ruth Nixon, of Mountain View, Calif. told the group of their work among the children and of their experiences in this their first attempt at social work.

Not a group to sit back and watch when youngsters are in need, the members took up a collection to purchase a volleyball to go along with the net one of the girls had made. It seems the girls finance these little projects the best way they can manage and since their wages are very small this presents many problems for them.

The girls said they work mostly with young children, teaching them to read better, and to play games. They also try to obtain clothing for other who are in need, and any other services they can perform.

Now the club members have decided to collect toys, games or anything that the VISTA girls could use to help in their work. Mrs. Ed Miller offered to collect any donations at the Gladstone Florist Company and to see that these articles reach Miss Root and Miss Nixon. Anyone interested in assisting the club in this worthwhile project may do so.

Giving, Rather Than Getting, Is Lesson For Easter

The idea to make and give Easter baskets to children in St. Francis Hospital was suggested by Mrs. Roland Berry, room mother of Mrs. McGovern's fifth grade classroom at the John Lemmer School, and the youngsters willingly donated pennies, nickels, and dimes to purchase goodies with which to fill the baskets. Giving was stressed rather than the usual getting at Eastertime.

Some baskets were woven by hand of thin strips of veneer which were brought to school by one of the students, Brian Dupey. The baskets were stapled, decorated, and then filled with grass and goodies. Other baskets were made with milk cartons as the base, covered with pink construction paper bunnies and thin decorated veneer handles.

On her own, one youngster, Cathy Davis, made individual yarn chickens for each basket.

On Thursday the youngsters gave up a recess period to walk to the hospital to give the baskets to the children. Miss Riopelle, student teacher, Mrs. Roland Berry, and Mrs. McGovern, teacher, accompanied the class. (See picture on Page 1.)

Kindergarten Cookbook Simple, To The Point

SEATTLE (AP) — The directions in the cookbook are simple: fons, tomato, mayonnaise, and to the point: "If it's black it's done... add one pound cinnamon, two pounds of salt... if you hear them burning, turn off the stove."

The cookbook was compiled by Miss Jean Hobart's kindergarten class at the Campbell Hill Elementary School. The cookbook was a natural outgrowth of a discussion of measuring, which led to the necessity of measuring in cooking, which led to talk of favorite foods and recipes.

Miss Hobart edited "The Kindergarten Cookbook," but pointed out in a covering letter to parents, "The recipes in the book were written exactly as dictated by the authors."

To make "David's Hamburgers"—"First you take a handful of hamburger and flatten it and put it in the oven on a pan with foil on it and cook it for a long while. Take it out and look at it. If it's black it's done. Take it out of the oven and put it on

Dear Heloise:

Just what can a woman do outside of painting her kitchen window sill every three months where she sets those little odds and ends used daily around the house?

The funny thing about this is that our kitchen is painted only once every three years and all but the window sill still looks beautiful.

Mother

Dear Mother:

Many people have recommended using wax.

However, painters write in that wax cannot be painted over because the paint won't stick until the wax has been removed with a solvent.

The easiest answer I have is to take some plastic wrap, cut it to fit the window sill and spread it on with your hands. Then wring out a warm sponge that has been dipped in hot water and smooth away.

The plastic will keep water and rusty cans from ruining the paint on your sill and will NOT show.

I also find this wonderful under potted plants, especially if the pots are the metal type that often rust.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When I was making a double-knit sweater, the two threads kept twisting around each other. I would hold up the knitted garment and let the thread unwind.

My husband suggested that I place the balls of yarn on a Lazy Susan and turn the yarn instead. This is so much more satisfactory and much easier to do.

Mrs. Glenn Grimm

Now who's dizzy? Let's let it be "Lazy Susan" and not us. It works, gals. And do we love Mrs. Grimm? I'll say we do...

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I use plain, common, laundry starch and make it into a thick paste (by adding a little water) and use it as a silver polish to clean my silver.

Just rub this on with a damp cloth and let it stand a minute or two and then rub dry. Sure is quick, inexpensive and easy. Budgeteer

American Dream Is Soured Says London's Times

LONDON (AP) — America started with a dream, "and the dream is shading now into nightmare," says London's Sunday Times.

"America is the land where an idea of unprecedented ambition and grandeur took shape. This is the country which undertook to let all races mingle, all faiths be free, all laws be just, all men be equal," the editorial said.

But, it added, "the horror of Vietnam ... has soured the dream as no crisis before in the nation's history; and at home unthinkable poverty rots on the edge of unimaginable wealth."

"The people, once pledged to everlasting brotherhood, fight pitched battles, race against race in the city streets."

An Associated Press survey on foreign comment also brought out this report on America's mood by Eldon Griffiths, a Conservative member of Parliament who once worked as a journalist in America: "There is rising a new and disturbing variety of isolationism. The best label I can find for it is 'continentalism.'"

"This is altogether a more subtle and complex phenomenon than the old-fashioned Americanism of the 1930s. Today's continentalism is based more on America's frustrations than on xenophobia; more on a felt need to reduce overseas obligations than on one to avoid all foreign entanglements."

"Vietnam is the biggest reason. The American public is plainly sickened, not only by the casualties ... and the staggering cost ... but by a mounting presentiment that the war is futile and unwinnable."

The Tokyo newspaper Asahi dwelt on President Johnson's Texas background and added: "Differing from the jovial and innocent tall stories of Texans, the gap between reality and President Johnson's recent 'special statement' is grave."

"After he stated that the area in which bombing would be permitted would be restricted to the area north of the demilitarized zone, the whole world was dumfounded to learn that this included an area up to 330 kilometers (200 miles) north of the DMZ."

"It couldn't be that President Johnson thought it was Texas, so that his 'just a little north' became 330 kilometers?"

School Relations Advisors Named

LANSING (AP) — The State Board of Education has announced appointment of a group to advise on relationships between students, the schools and parents.

"The school today, as never before, finds itself the center of controversy," said Ira Polley, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

"One of the most pressing aspects," Polley observed, "is the relationship of parent, student and school in the areas of conduct, dress, grooming, personal behavior and discipline."

Polley said this is a problem of determining at what point the freedom of right of expression of an individual conflicts with the interests of organized society.

The advisory group will be asked to examine the problems and recommend what the state board can do to help local boards of education develop sound relationships.

Named to the committee were:

Elwyn Bodley, Bay City superintendent of schools; Mrs. Geraldine Crosby, Detroit parent; R. Samuel Clark, Starr Commonwealth, Albion; Arsh Dernabian, High Park teacher;

Walter Hill, director of Ann Arbor Community Center; Earl Holman, Jackson Union High School district principal; Herschel Irons, Lansing teacher; Mrs. E. J. McCarthy, East Lansing parent; Raymond Tardy, director of Grand Rapids Sheldon Complex; Paul Misner, Western Michigan University professor; Dr. James Shaffer, East Lansing School Board member.

King Martyrdom Is Sermon Note

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

A contemporary drama of death and hope in the resurrection of an ideal this week added a poignantly immediate quality to the Christian celebration of Christ's death and resurrection.

And many a sermon drew analogies between the hallowed events of Easter and the modern martyrdom of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and the ensuing, revitalized dedication to his vision of human unity.

"Like the Master that he served, Martin Luther King set his face steadfastly to challenge the leadership of the nation to do justly and to follow after peace," said the Rev. John Coventry Smith, a United Presbyterian executive.

And King was killed for it, as was Jesus.

"All Involved"

In both cases, "all of us were involved," said the Rev. Edward O. Miller, of St. George's Episcopal church in Manhattan. "We kneel to confess our corporate involvement, to give the lie to the monstrous distortion that it is always somebody else who crucifies the prophets in this world."

"It was not the Jews who crucified Jesus, it was humanity, it was people. It was the same evil quality in human beings that again has crucified Martin Luther King."

But there were hopeful notes, too, of a banner raised, of a purpose reinvigorated in the land. "We shall overcome," sang many congregations, holding hands in the style of a King rally.

Resurrection Theme

Some ministers cited comparisons with the Resurrection, although emphasizing the profound distinction seen in Christ's triumph over death itself, in addition to the perpetuation of his influence in the world.

"In the world, you shall have tribulation," said the resurrected Christ, "but be not afraid, I have overcome the world."

In a different, temporal sense, the cause which King stood for also surmounted his death, and in the aftermath, gained renewed vigor of expression and widening impact.

It "will outlive this tragedy," said Margaret Shannon, executive director of Church Women United, a national organization of Protestant, Orthodox and Catholic women.

Dream Does Not Die

"His lasting leadership will be proved by those who will now forsake their silent admiration to speak up for the cause he espoused and to act in the way he lived."

A joint statement by the Rev. Dr. Eugene Smathers, of Big Lick, Tenn., moderator of the United Presbyterian Church, and its stated clerk, William P. Thompson, said King's "dream of freedom, justice and equality for all men did not die with him."

"It must and will be realized. Let all men of good will pledge themselves anew to work for speedy completion of the course for which this great man lived and fought and died."

Auto Sales Beat Expert Forecast

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Automobile salesmen and dealers throughout America are talking up a real spurt in car sales. The increase began early in the first quarter of the year, but took off in the final 10 days of March.

The figures exceed even the estimates of many of the industry's positive thinking forecasters.

First quarter sales of the nation's Big Four automakers totaled more than two million cars despite a sluggish start.

In the March 21-31 period alone, the combined sales of General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors were more than 322,000 cars a pace that has been bettered only in 1965 and 1966.

In this 10-day period, Americans bought 36,000 cars more than in the same period a year earlier, or about 3,600 cars more a day—in spite of domestic and international turmoil.

True, some peculiarities must be explained.

Ford, still rebounding from a strike, is providing cars now for many customers who couldn't buy them earlier. And sales incentive contests this year may have added to the bulge.

Still, the spring sales pace of 1968 stands close to the best, exceeded only by 1966 and 1965 when 2.2 million cars were sold in the first quarter. But, when increased purchases of foreign cars are included, Americans are found to be buying at a pace very close to the record.

Consider the situation just a couple of years ago. Sales were booming and manufacturers were projecting sales of cars and trucks of about 10.6 million. Henry Ford II foresaw sales in excess of 13 million by 1970. Confidence abounded.

Everything seemed to go sour at once. Safety, an issue that car makers had long pursued—but perhaps dutifully and sometimes ploddingly—suddenly was on everyone's mind. Inflation spread through the economy.

Consumer confidence began drying up in the heat of domestic and world tensions.

Car sales slumped beneath estimates. Millions of cars were found to have defects, mostly minor. American Motors got into serious financial trouble. Imported cars began taking a larger share of the American market.

Confidence also seems to be returning to the auto buying public, although it seems to be a conditional thing that is not reflected in opinion surveys and which could be upset by a large dose of bad news.

Youth Air Fare Rates Boosted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board has given Eastern Air Lines permission to change its youth fare from the current 50 per cent discount, no-reservation base to a fare one third below the standard adult jet day coach fare, but with advance reservations.

The CAB enabled the fare change to go into effect by dismissing a complaint against it filed by the National Trailways Bus System and its 46 independent member bus lines.

Eastern said the current no-reservation half fare for youths between the ages of 12 and 22 failed to generate enough new traffic to cover its extra cost, and therefore has been only marginally profitable.

The airline said the no-reservation feature caused a number of problems and abuses, such as the disproportionate amount of time requests to answer telephone requests for information as to the likelihood of transportation on a space-available basis.

Brown's Late Homer Downs Red Sox Nine

DETROIT (AP) — About eight sports writers were gathered around Gates Brown's locker to ask about the pinch home run that beat Boston 4-3 Thursday.

"All this ink and the papers on strike," chided pitcher Earl Wilson. "No way anyone in Detroit is going to find out about Gates."

Brown's problems aren't confined to the 149-day Detroit newspaper strike. There have been persistent rumors that Detroit has been trying to trade the muscular slugger and it's no secret he's No. 25 on a 25-man roster.

"I needed it," said Brown. "I need all I can get."

Brown's homer leading off in the ninth inning provided 21-year-old rookie Jon Warden with his first major league victory. Warden came on in relief of starter Denny McLain in the eighth inning with the score tied 3-3.

Ray Oyler's error put one man on base and George Scott followed with a single. Warden got rookie Joe Lahoud on a pop fly and Jim Northrup made a fine running catch on Rico Petrocelli's long drive to center field.

Elston Howard walked to load the bases before Warden got pinch hitter Joe Poy on a liner to left fielder Willie Horton.

"I was a little nervous," admitted Warden, who won 15 games at Rocky Mount in the Carolina League last year. "I was in a hole in the eighth and Northrup and Horton made two good catches to get me out of it."

Warden retired the Red Sox in order in the ninth, striking out Carl Yastrzemski to end the game.

"Everybody back home wanted me to pitch to Yastrzemski this spring," said Warden, a left-hander from Harrisburg, Ohio. "But we only played Boston once in Florida."

"I got a chance to face Yastrzemski today," he said. "He's not superhuman. Bill Freehan told me to keep the ball down. Yastrzemski struck out on a high slider. I wanted to throw it as hard as I could. It wasn't where I wanted it but I'll take it."

Detroit jumped to a 3-0 lead in the first two innings, belting Boston starter Jose Santiago for three runs, including two homers. Dick McAuliffe led off the game with a home run. Don Wert followed with a double and rode home on Al Kaline's single. Bill Freehan hit a homer leading off in the second.

"Santiago settled down after a couple of innings," said Dick Williams, the Boston manager. "The ball Freehan hit was a low changeup. He reached for it."

McLain, who gave up a league high 35 home runs last year, blanked Boston for five innings until the roof caved in in the sixth. Reggie Smith singled and Lahoud, a 19-year-old rookie filling in for Tony Conigliaro, followed with a two-run homer.

Rico Petrocelli hammered a solo homer to knot the score at 3-3.

"I had a good fastball today, but my curve and slider weren't working," said McLain. "Anytime you get that club out, you're doing a job."

Detroit loaded the bases with one out in the seventh but Lee Stange took over in relief and got Wert on a pop fly and retired Kaline on a fly ball to end the threat.

Mayo Smith, the Detroit manager, said he used Warden in a tight spot to see how he would perform under pressure.

"I like his coolness out there," said Smith. "He doesn't get flustered. Sure, he was nervous in his first big league game... but he didn't show it."

Smith said he would continue to experiment with his bullpen until he found a dependable relief pitcher.

"If there's a stopper down there I don't know who it is," he said.

The Tigers held a brief Good Friday workout today. They meet the Chicago White Sox in Tiger Stadium Saturday afternoon.

Joe Sparma is to pitch for Detroit and Gary Peters will be White Sox Manager Eddie Stankey's choice.

Casper Tops Masters Tourney First Round

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Billy Casper, golf's quiet man, suddenly turned showman en route to the first round lead in the Masters Golf Tournament.

Casper—for years a drab, colorless figure—joked and jiggled, capered and cavorted over the windy, rolling acres of the Augusta National Golf Course Thursday on the way to a four-under-par 68.

That gave him a one-stroke lead over an international quintet including pre-tourney favorite Jack Nicklaus, British Open champion Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina, tough, young Tony Jacklin of England, Australian Bruce Devlin and tour regular Tommy Aaron.

Tied at 70 were Bob Goaly, Kermit Zarley and Jerry Pittman, PGA champion Don January and Hideyo Sugimoto, six-time Japanese open champion, and amateur Vinnie Giles were in a group of seven at 71 while defending champion Gary Brewer, Arnold Palmer and South African Gary Player were among the seven tied at par 72.

"I just feel good," Casper said. "I've felt good all week. And after a round like that I feel even better."

He reeled off six birdies, including three on the last five holes and dropped in putts up to a monster of 55 feet.

Casper birdied the second hole from two feet and ran in a 30-footer on the third hole. He three-putted the sixth, but got the stroke back with an eight-footer on no. 8.

On the back nine, he got a 13-footer on the 13th, put a wedge two feet from the hole on 15 and then caged the monster on 17. He bogeyed No. 14 when he missed the green.

He played the round with Jacklin, the 23-year-old Briton who recently became the first of his nation to win a professional tourney in the United States in 40 years.

De Vicenzo, who will be 45 Sunday, had his best Masters opening round since his first appearance here 17 years ago.

"I'm really charged up for this one," said Nicklaus, the 210-pound Golden Bear who won three of the last five Masters.

He had five birdies and two bogeys, said he was putting very well and described one of his drives as "fantastic. It was over 300 yards."

Clive Clark of England got the ninth hole in one in the tournament's history, bouncing in a two iron shot on the 190-yard 16th hole.

The field will be cut to the low 44 and ties, plus all players within 10 shots of the leader after today's second round.

The final two rounds will be televised nationally by CBS-TV, 5-6 p.m., EST Saturday and 4-5:30 p.m., EST Sunday.

Killebrew Leads Twins To Victory

By The Associated Press

Jim Merritt was having trouble with his pivot and suddenly Minnesota Twins were in trouble. But there was nothing wrong with Harmon Killebrew's swing and suddenly the Twins were out of trouble.

Killebrew's second homer in as many days snapped a tie and gave the Twins a 5-4 victory over Washington Thursday night after a shaky start by Merritt allowed the Senators four runs in the first inning.

Minnesota pitching coach Early Wynn detected a hitch in the young left-hander's pivot when delivering the ball and quickly got him to correct the flaw. After that, Merritt allowed just two hits and waited for the Twins' hitters to catch up.

"With our offensive strength," said Merritt, "you know we're never out of any game. I was just going to do my best to hang on."

In the only other American League games Thursday, Detroit edged Boston 4-3 and California topped Cleveland 7-5.

In the National League, Pittsburgh outlasted San Francisco 3-1 in 15 innings. Chicago crushed Cincinnati 10-3. Houston downed Philadelphia 7-3. St. Louis smacked Atlanta 10-3 and New York shut out Los Angeles 4-0.

The Twins started catching up to the Senators in the third inning when Ken McMullen's two-out throwing error opened the gates to three runs.

In the fifth, Frank Howard muffed a fly ball by Rod Carew for a two-base error and Carew eventually scored the tying run on a wild pitch. Then Killebrew sent one 381 feet into the left field bullpen in left center.

Merritt then settled down to retire 15 straight Washington batters and protected the one-run lead the rest of the way.

Greer Puts Philadelphia In Playoff Driver's Seat

By The Associated Press

Philadelphia left the driving to Hal Greer and in return Greer put the 76ers in the driver's seat in their National Basketball Association playoffs with Boston.

Greer popped in 21 points in the fourth quarter and steered the host 76ers by the Celtics 122-114 Thursday night, putting Philadelphia up 2-1 in the Eastern Division finals.

Along right well themselves for a time, making up a 77-67 deficit to go ahead 93-91, but by then defensive ace Bill Russell, Bailey Howell and Satch Sanders each had five fouls with 10:18 left.

"That was the key to the game," Greer said. "With Russell out of there it opened everything up. I just drove the middle and those little jumpers were wide open."

While the defending NBA champion 76ers, who lost the first game in Philadelphia, won their second straight, Los Angeles took an almost insurmountable 3-0 lead with a 128-124 triumph over San Francisco.

In the only American Basketball Association game, Jesse Branson came off the bench in the second and fourth quarters and led New Orleans to a commanding 3-1 playoff lead with a 119-103 victory over Dallas in New Orleans.

Greer, who finished with 31 points, hit three straight free throws after Boston had taken its short-lived lead, and the Celtics never caught up again. He hit eight-of-14 shots from the field in the final quarter.

Wilt Chamberlain added 20 points, 25 rebounds and six assists, despite pulling a calf muscle in his right leg. The injury left him limping, but Trainer Al Domenico said it didn't appear serious.

John Havlicek had 29 points for Boston.

After two games in two nights, the best-of-7 series resumes Sunday in Boston, and Celtics coach Russell looked for a better showing at home.

New Orleans can wrap up best-of-7 Western Division I playoff Saturday night at home, er Branson's heroics.

Branson hit the first e points of the second period had eight more before the as the Buccaneers took the 1 for good. He came back in fourth period with 10 n points to insure the victory.

Maurice McHartley of Da also had 26 points.

Canadiens Sweep Series In Stanley Cup Playoffs

By The Associated Press

The Montreal Canadiens don't have sharper skates than any other National Hockey League team. They just use them better.

"We got a team effort and we outskated them," Coach Toe Blake said after the Canadiens edged Boston 3-2 Thursday night to sweep their East Division

Stanley Cup semifinal series in four straight games. "Very few of our guys were not skating."

Montreal's next opponent will be the winner of the New York-Calgary series. The Black Hawks fired five goals in the third period to beat the Rangers 7-4 and cut New York's lead to 2-1.

In West Division semifinal action, St. Louis whipped Philadelphia 5-2 to take a commanding 3-1 lead and Minnesota nipped Los Angeles 3-2 to square that set at two games apiece. All series are best-of-7.

Claude Larose, who scored only two goals during the regular season, connected twice for Montreal. He also set up a goal by Ralph Backstrom, which proved to be the winner.

"When Larose was going bad he lost his confidence," said Blake. "He couldn't handle the puck. He couldn't even score in workouts."

Larose's second goal at 7:20 of the third period broke a 1-1 tie and Backstrom made it 3-1 at 16:33. That offset a goal by Boston's Ken Hodge with 1½ minutes left.

"I don't think anybody's going to stop them," said Boston Coach Harry Sinden, who piloted his team to its first playoff appearance in nine seasons.

"It was a big step from last place to the playoffs," Sinden said. "It looks like it's also a big step from the playoffs to the cup."

Chicago, stunned when Rod Gilbert gave the Rangers a 3-2 lead with two goals only six seconds apart in the second period, came out flying for the third stanza. Pit Martin knotted the score with his second goal of the game at 2:26 and Stan Mikita put the Hawks ahead to stay at 5:25.

Dennis Hull made it 5-3 at 8:11. New York's Rod Seiling made it 5-4. Chicago iced it on goals by Doug Mohns at 18:19 and Gilles Marotte with 18 seconds left into an empty net.

Red Berenson's two goals paced St. Louis past Philadelphia's West Division pennant winners. The Blues also scored twice while short-handed—by Billy McCreary in the first period and Barclay Plager in the third. Dickie Moore scored the other St. Louis goal, the 41st Stanley Cup tally of his career.

Hayes To Get Mental Exam

PHILLIPS, Wis. — An escaped mental patient from California who was arrested near Rapid River and then turned over to Wisconsin authorities on attempted murder and armed robbery charges entered a plea of not guilty by reason of insanity Thursday in Price County Court.

Charles E. Hayes, 28, was committed to the Wisconsin State Hospital at Waupun for 60 days mental observation by Price County Judge Carl Bjork.

Hayes is accused of robbing Mrs. Gladys Hettler, 27, in her home, beating her, stabbing her and choking her into unconsciousness.

He was arrested March 21 by State Police of the Gladstone Post near Rapid River after Escanaba police broadcast an alert for a man wanted in connection with an armed robbery in an Escanaba motel room.

Francis Petras, Green Bay, Wis., was slugged by a man who rapped on his door at the Pioneer Motor Inn.

Authorities said Hayes walked away from a San Bernardino, Calif., mental hospital Feb. 16.

Democrats To Meet May 17

The executive board of the Delta County Democratic Committee announces that the party's spring convention will be held at the Delta County Building on Friday, May 17, at 8 p.m. Announcements are being mailed to the 137 members of the Delta County Committee, who are also delegates to the convention.

The work of the convention will include introductions of Democratic party candidates for public offices in the primary and general elections this year; the framing of a statement of party principles, together with a campaign platform upon which to base an appeal for public support of Democratic candidates; and other business.

The convention is expected to attract a large attendance, said County Democratic chairman George St. Louis, because of the McCarthy-Kennedy primary contest for the Democratic presidential nomination, with the further entry of Vice President Humphrey in prospect.

College Board Approves New Salary Schedule

A new faculty salary schedule for Bay de Noc Community college instructors was approved Thursday night by the College Board of Trustees.

The schedule provides for a minimum beginning salary of $6,200 for teachers hired with bachelor's degrees.

Minimum for teachers with master's degrees will be $6,900. Instructor's with master's degrees and 30 additional hours graduate credit will start at $7,600 and faculty members with two master's degrees will start at $8,200.

The schedule ranges after 12 years to the following levels: bachelor's $8,600; master's $10,500; master's plus 30 hours, $11,200, and double master's, $11,800.

In addition, the schedule also provides for a minimum faculty salary of $5,500 for instructors who do not hold a college degree.

Dr. Richard Rinehart, college president, said that this category would apply primarily to the practical nursing program and also might apply in other vocational-technical programs.

The schedule was approved after negotiations with the faculty and was recommended by the college administration. The agreement is for the next two years.

It was explained that payments above the scheduled amounts may be used to provide additional incentives and as rewards for extra merit. The plan also adds three steps above the 12th for "distinguished faculty" members who qualify by specific Board of Trustees promotion.

The Board also approved the tentative appointments of eight faculty members for the 1968-69 academic year.

Briefly Told

Michael Murray, 80, of 1417 Michigan Ave., Gladstone, was ticketed by State Police Thursday for failing to yield the right of way after a two-car accident on U.S. 2 and 41 in Wells Township at the intersection with County Rd. C-45. Officers said Murray told them his foot slipped off the brake when he was stopped at the stop sign and his car moved into the traffic lane, colliding with a car driven by Bernice Reno, 202 S. 3rd St., Gladstone. Neither driver was injured, officers said.

Dies At Desk

DETROIT (AP) — Floyd McGriff, 77, who worked for International News Service in London during World War I, died of an apparent heart attack while working at his desk in Detroit Thursday night.

Newberry Is Under Inquiry

State Rep. Charles H. Varnum (R-Manistiquia) today announced that a Legislative study panel, of which he is Chairman, will visit Newberry State Hospital next Monday and Tuesday, April 15-16 to investigate grievances filed by the hospital employees organization.

Hearings with administrative officers and staff members begin at 8 a. m., Monday in the County Building in Newberry. The union has complained of mismanagement by top hospital administrators, charging that the hospital is being run in the red and that employees are being demoted to correct the deficit. Varnum indicated that an auditor general's report from May of 1961 to December of 1966, cited a long list of deficiencies in hospital operation.

Other members of the study panel include State Senator Thomas Schweigert (R-Petoskey and Rep. Peter Kok (R-Grand Rapids), chairman of the House Mental Health Committee.

"Senator Schweigert will not be able to attend," Varnum said. He will be represented by Charles Larsen, administrative assistant to Senate Republicans. In addition, Rep. Jack Gingrass of Iron Mountain will be there for the two day session.

"We expect to make a thorough study, and talk to as many persons involved as possible and then perhaps we'll be able to make some recommendations."

Dewey Thordarson Rites Saturday

The body is at the Casperson Funeral Home at Sister Bay, Wis., and burial will be on Washington Island, where Mr. Thordarson had a summer home.

Court Supports 1-Vote Principle For Supervisors

LANSING (AP) — Following the lead of the U.S. Supreme Court, the Michigan Court of Appeals Thursday reversed itself and came out on the side of one-man, one vote representation in county government.

The appeals Court, second in state legal authority only to the Michigan Supreme Court, struck down a portion of the State Constitution which governs the composition of county boards of supervisors.

Declared to be in violation of the U.S. Constitution was a Michigan provision that each organized township in the state is entitled to one supervisor on its county board.

The ruling followed a recent U.S. high court decision in a Texas case, which extended the one-man, one-vote principle to local government units.

No Choice

"We didn't have any choice," acknowledged appeals Judge Timothy C. Quinn.

Quinn and Judges John H. Gillis and Thomas G. Kavanagh unanimously agreed Thursday that the Michigan Constitution's provision violated the supreme federal law, ruling in cases involving Ontonagon and Oakland Counties.

In a related development, State Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley moved Thursday to carry the equal-population fight back to the Michigan Supreme Court, which once had rejected it.

Here is a timetable of the controversy:

Long Controversy

—In 1966, the Legislature, then controlled by Democrats, passed a law calling for county board members to be elected from districts "as nearly of equal population as is practicable."

—In April, 1967, the Michigan Supreme Court slapped down the 1966 law, holding the Michigan Constitution's provision of one - township, one - supervisor, prevailed.

—In February, 1968, the Michigan Appeals Court followed the lead of the State Supreme Court, ruling in the Ontonagon County case that the State Constitution neither requires nor permits equal - population representation in county government. Kavanagh dissented from the decision of Quinn and Gillis.

Court Reverses

—On April 1, the U.S. Supreme Court, in the case of Avery vs. Midland County, Texas, ruled in favor of population representation in the governing bodies of local political units.

—With both eyes fixed on the federal court's ruling, the Michigan Court of Appeals reversed itself Thursday in the Ontonagon County case, but did not immediately uphold all the details of the 1966 state law.

Judge Quinn stressed that the one-man, one-vote "guidelines" spelled out in that legislative act are still being reviewed by the appeals court. He said a decision on its constitutionality is likely within a week.

Time Is Short

Upstaged Thursday by the Appeals Court's ruling was Kelley's petition to the State Supreme Court, asking it to overturn its 1967 ruling against population representation on county boards and to spell out, in an advisory opinion, guidelines for county reapportionment.

Kelley noted in his petition that the Supreme Court must reach a decision soon, since if Michigan's 83 counties are to be reapportioned this year, supervisors in the new districts must run for office this year.

"Accordingly," Kelley told the state's highest court, "it is submitted that time is of the essence."

eration of the case. He said the jury believed that the shooting very likely was an accident caused by Mrs. Schanno's fear of her husband and his movements on the bed at the time the gun discharged.

Prosecuting Attorney Nicholas Chapekis said "this was a case that had to be tried. The verdict of the jury is understandable."

"Under our laws, the defendant had to be judged by a panel of her peers," he continued. "I believe in the jury system and feel that the decision of this jury was carefully considered and I am sure it was a difficult one."

First In Years

The murder trial was the first in Delta County in 16 or 18 years and police officers who testified in the case complimented the jury for its attention to the case.

Hoehn, in his closing argument, again told the jury he had two theories of the case — accident or self defense.

"I can't tell you which," he said.

"Did she believe he was going to harm her or kill her?" he asked. "Did she have fear that she was going to be killed?"

Hoehn said the only thing that was important is "her state of mind" at the time.

He also told the jury that in cases based on circumstantial evidence it is the "duty of the prosecution to prove that there is no theory which will fit the facts which is consistent with innocence."

U.S. Objects To Warsaw As Not Neutral

reluctance to hold talks at Phnom Penh and noted past administration utterances about sending peace emissaries anywhere, anytime.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, told an audience in Lincoln, Neb.:

"The President said several months ago that he would meet anyone, anytime. Then the administration raised objection to meeting in Cambodia—which is someplace."

Johnson told a group of state legislators on June 16, 1966: "We are ready to talk anywhere, anytime, with any government. All they have to do to test us is name the place and date. They will find us there."

Seek "Suitable" Site

In his March 31 announcement of a "hold down in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam in a bid for negotiations, Johnson said: "Now, as in the past, the U.S. is ready to send its representatives to any forum, anytime, to discuss the needs of bringing this ugly war to an end."

It was contended by administration spokesmen that the President was not going back on his word in balking at Warsaw and or Phnom Penh as meeting sites, but rather was pursuing the U.S. national interest in pressing for a "suitable place," to send Harriman.

Hart Missed Bill Signing Insurance Men To Meet Here

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., who talked the new civil rights bill through the Senate, accidentally got short shrift when President Johnson signed the measure at a White House ceremony Thursday.

A chair in the front row of dignitaries had been reserved for Hart.

But the guard at the White House gate didn't have Hart's name on the list of those to be admitted.

Hart finally managed to get through the gate, but by that time the ceremony was over.
